BUENOS AYRES.

Whatever relates to this new Republic must be in some degree interesting to an American reader. We frequently hear news of the political and military affairs of that country, but the heralds who announce such intelligence, always forget to tell us any thing about the people themselves, their manners, customs and character. The following brief sketch however partially supplies these omissions, and will no doubt, be read with a good deal of interest. It is communicated by a gentleman of intelligence and strict veracity, now in Buenos Ayres, in a letter to a friend in this place.—Norfolk Her.

"Buenos Ayres, Nov. 20. 1817.

"The inhabitants, like the European Spaniards, are remarkable for their indolence, but very unlike them in their politeness, sociability and gaiety. The women are more lovely and fascinating in their persons than can well be imagined by those who have never seen them. To visit the tiger or bull fights, the opera house, or their sociable titulias, (similar to the tea-parties in Virginia) is to behold a display of female beauty surpassing the most extravagant description I am capable of giving.—But then, (O! human frailty) they are even more addicted to gallantry and intrigue, than the ladies of Spain or Italy * * * * * *. O how exalted, in my estimation are the fair daughters of my native land at this moment! With what rapture do I dwell upon the remembrance of those characteristic traits of modesty, sincerity, prudence and rigid virtue by which they are so peculiarly distinguished from the ladies of almost every other country in the universe.

"The abundance of every kind of provision in this place will appear almost incredible. It is now the commencement of the spring season, and there is not an article that attracts the eye that is not plenty in the superlative degree—with the exception of honest men. A bull or ox may be bought for one dollar; an elegant horse for four dollars; the most beautiful horse in the country may be purchased for the trifling sum of sixteen dollars. Sheep are animals that the natives will not eat, and they are only used to burn the brick kilns with: they are sometimes valued at 12½ to 18¾ cents per head.

"A certain barbarian (for I can call him nothing else) residing three miles out of this city, regularly every year drives into his kilns 10,000 sheep, alive, and closing the kilns sets fire to the poor harmless animals with as much sang froid as one of your Norfolk brick makers would to a collection of pine fuel.

In short the country is so overrun with every description of domestic and wild animals, that they range without restraint, perfectly their own masters.—Every man is an expert horseman, and every horseman is a sure goucher or lasser, as they are here termed. He can mount his horse, and with a rope 100 yards in length, attached to the hinder part of his saddle, give chase in full speed, throw a running noose over the object of pursuit, (whether a man or wild animal) with incredible certainty, and thus entangling it, wheel suddenly about and set off at full gallop, dragging his victim or prey after him. In this manner they take all the animals on which the inhabitants of the country and the cities subsist. Nothing can escape the running noose of these extraordinary and expert horsemen when in pursuit.

"Nature has not intended this for a great maritime country. A ship carpenter might do well enough at repairing vessels, making spars. &c. but he would meet with poor success in building, as he could find neither of those essentials, timber and water, in sufficient abundance.

From the Georgia Journal, Jan. 31.

Copy of a letter from General Mitchell, agent for Indian affairs, to Governor Rabun, dated Creek Agency, 28th Jan. 1818.

Dear Sir—I have but barely time to announce to you, the execution of a treaty with the Creeks on the 22d instant, by which they have ceded to the U. States, for the use of Georgia, two considerable tracts of land. The one lying to the east side of a line, to be run from what is usually called Jackson's treaty line, by the head of a creek called by the Indians Alcas-ac-a-likie, a direct and the nearest course to the Ocmulgee river. The creek referred to empties into the Ocmulgee some where near the Big Bend, and not far above Blackshear's road, but how far the head of it extends is uncertain, altho' from its size being considerable it must of course throw the line considerably above its mouth. The other tract lies between the Ul-co-fou-hat-chie, the Appalachie and Chatahoochie, and is said to be of considerable extent and value.

The price stipulated for the two tracts is one hundred and twenty thousand dollars.

I expect to leave this for Georgia the first fair day, and will then have the pleasure of presenting for your consideration, an exposition of facts and circumstances, attending the present state of affairs in the Creek Nation, upon which you can rely; for I perceive by the public papers, that, as usual, false impressions are entertained and mere conjecture taken for real facts.

I am, dear sir, with great esteem and respect, your very obedient servant.

D. B. MITCHELL,
Agent for Indian Affairs.

ST. STEPHENS, (Alabama) Jan. 17.

The General Court for the Alabama Territory held its session last week in this place. No public business of an important nature came before it. The Grand Jury for the Alabama Territory found a bill of indictment against James Roan for attempting to organize an expedition against Pensacola, and for accepting and exercising a commission under the revolutionists of South America.

From the Boston Daily Advertiser, February 16

Truly Alarming.—In consequence of Gilbert and Dean's notice in the papers of Saturday last, respecting counterfeit bills of Gloucester Bank, a person named Amos Wheeler, was arrested at Watertown, on Saturday evening last—and the Sheriff, in searching his house, found concealed under a bed, between 40 and 50 bills of 5 dollars—15 or 20 of 2 dollars—5 of 3 dollars and 1 of 20 dollars, all of Gloucester Bank—and it is understood he has passed within a few weeks, many bills of the denomination of 20 and 50, of the same bank. We hope the plot will be developed. We feel pretty confident the impression of the bills are from the original plate. A specimen of 2, 3, 5 and 20 dollar bills are left for examination at Gilbert and Dean's office in the old State House.

MAYORALTY OF NEW ORLEANS.

A cure for Canine Madness.

Mr. Chabert, a physician from the university of Montpellier, lately arrived in this city, has just made known to me a remedy for the canine madness, which has been pointed out as a specific by the Italian physicians.

That remedy was published in the Piedmontese Gazette of the 8th of May last, from which it was literally copied by Mr. Chabert himself, before his leaving France. The discovery of it is due to professor Brugnatelli, and it would be the more advantageous to try by experiments the confidence which it may be entitled to, that the use of the remedy can occasion no dangerous consequences. I therefore deem it my duty to make it known to my fellow-citizens, by publishing the following as it has been transmitted to me:

"Thanks to the celebrated professor Brugnatelli, an efficacious remedy has, at last, been discovered against canine madness, perhaps the most horrid of all diseases. That remedy consists in hydroclore (acid muriatic ox: aqueux) used as well inside of the body as on the exterior parts of it. The wound produced by the bite of mad animals must be washed with it. It appears that that substance destroys the Hydrophobic poison, even when used several days after the fatal bite. A number of well authenticated cures, operated by that simple means, in the great hospitals of Lombardy, do not permit to doubt the powers of that precious remedy."

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 15, 1818.

AUG. MACARTY, Mayor

GREAT FRAUD.

The Salem Register of the 14th ult. gives the following:

It is reported that the Banking Establishment of Stephen Girard, esq. in Philadelphia, has been defrauded of $20,000 in the following audacious manner:—A man called upon Mr. G. pretending to be a merchant from England, having a large quantity of goods to dispose of, exhibiting invoices, bills of lading, &c. While Mr. G. was examining them, he made some pretence to step out, and passing through the Bank room, presented a check for the above amount to the Cashier, who not suspecting a fraud, as the man had been for some time with Mr. G. in his private room, paid the check, and the villain had been gone a considerable time, before the deception was discovered.

SAVANNAH, FEB. 9.

THE NEGLECTED BRAVE.

It is a singular circumstance that the ashes of General Nathaniel Green, deposited in the grave-yard of this city, should not be discoverable by any inscription, to the eye of a stranger. The spot, even where they lie is unknown to our inhabitants, excepting a few revolutionary patriots whom the hand of time has spared to be guides as it were to the sepulchre of a man, who may be justly termed the saviour of the southern states. It is with the highest feelings of pleasure, however, that we can announce to our fellow citizens, that ample atonement is, about to be made for the apathy and indifference of former times. A number of spirited individuals are about opening a subscription, on which their names will be prominent, for the purpose of obtaining a sum adequate to the erection of a monument over the remains of a hero who was in courage and patriotism, inferior to no warrior of his age.

We have generally understood that when a man is dead he is dead sure enough. But Apodaca, the vice-roy of Mexico, does not think this saying applicable to the ill-fated Gen. Mina. He seems to be afraid that the general may come to life again; or that he is not dead although he has been basely murdered by authority. Several Spanish officers and a surgeon of the royal Spanish army have been required to sign a certificate of his death, and this certificate has been published at the capital of Mexico with great triumph and parade. We never had any doubt that the royal Spaniards would murder Mina if they caught him. The only doubt was whether they had caught him. It is stated that he was shot through the brain—to signify, we suppose, that it is high treason against his catholic majesty for any Spaniard to have brains or to think for himself. Wash. City Gaz.

A gentleman, who, from his situation in life, is competent to announce the fact with certainty, asserts, that 78 members of the present House of Representatives of the U. States are natives of Virginia. The whole number of members in that House if we mistake not is about 190. The number representing Virginia only 23, it would hence appear that she has supplied the southern and western sections of the Union with 55 statesmen, many of whom are among the most distinguished members of the national legislature.—Norfolk Herald.

We learn that Archibald W. Hamilton, Esq. of this city, has received an appointment in the staff of the U. States' army.—This gentleman was a commissioned officer in the British army, and much esteemed for his gallantry and good conduct. At the commencement of the late war he tendered his resignation, which was refused, under an express stipulation, that he should not be called upon to bear arms against his country. Notwithstanding this assurance he was landed at New Orleans, and when ordered to the attack he resolutely refused to draw his sword against this country and fellow citizens. He was placed under arrest: and Sir Edward Packenham expressed his determination to have him put to death after the battle. The total defeat of the British in that action frustrated the object, and we are now happy to perceive that our government has not been insensible to patriotism so distinguished.

National Adv.

From a late London paper.

THE MANIA OF EMIGRATION.

One of the French provincial Journals, that of the Upper Rhine, contains a letter from a person, who professes a great desire to emigrate, but thus states his difficulty in choosing a new country: "Looking into the newspapers for information in my choice, judge of my embarrassment when I found that the Typhus which rages in Ireland and threatens England, ravages a part of Italy. The plague is at Oran, at Constantinople, Algiers, and in almost all Africa. Asia does not please me better: they are fighting in Persia, in Labor, at Candahac, and at Calcutta; the Wechabites are fighting I know not where. The West is not more to my taste. The war of the Insurgents desolates South America: Christophe and Petion dispute at St. Domingo; the Yellow fever is in the United States. Beyond the Pyrenees, treason lurks in Portugal; an army is assembled in Spain, and terrible hurricanes carry away the artillery of batteries. There is a disorder among the cattle in Switzerland; it rains continually at Naples; Croatia has its hyenas, and Piedmont its enraged wolves. After this where can I go, unless I bury myself in the snows of Russia? A perfect calculation induces me to remain in France, where, it is true, we have neither hurricane, nor war, nor plague, nor Yellow fever, nor even the Yellow Dwarf, but where we have tigers in the department of the Ande, stones that fall in the street Richelieu, and above all, where we have the Journal de Commerce.

Connubial Carte and Tierce.—A few nights ago the good people of Horncastle were amused by the following announcement of the bellman: "Mr. J. wishes to inform the Public, he will not be answerable for any debt or debts his wife Marianna J. may contract after this public notice." As soon as possible afterwards, the bellman was again sent round with the following: "Mrs. J. begs to inform the public, she never has, nor ever intends, to contract any debts on her husband's credit well knowing it stands on too slender a foundation."

To Merchants & Others.

A YOUNG MAN, lately from one of the most extensive Staffordshire potteries in England who is perfectly acquainted with the business wishes to engage with any person with a small capital in the manufacture of Delf ware, Felthering vessels, and Fire Bricks,

A line addressed to J. BAKER, and left at Isaac Carey's opposite the Theatre, will be attended to.

PITTSBURGH.

TUESDAY, MARCH 3, 1818.

WILLIAM COBBETT.—This man, who has gained such infamous notoriety as the advocate of faction, has at length received a rebuff, where perhaps he had the least reason to expect it. After spending several years of his life in traducing our best citizens; after flying ignominiously from a country which he had vilified and abused, it was with no small degree of surprise that we saw him coming forward with a petition to our Legislature claiming indemnity from penalties which our laws had inflicted upon his misconduct. Of the modest assurance of Mr. Cobbett we never had much doubt, but we confess we were a little startled at finding to what lengths he had carried it in the present instance; for we should have supposed that he had sense enough to know, that whatever the Legislature of Pennsylvania might be induced to do when the interest of a party is at stake, they have too much policy to disgrace themselves in the service of a despised renegado who cannot offer them a quid pro quo. His observations with regard to Governor M'Kean were alone sufficient to have roused the indignation of every honest American; for little as we admire the conduct of that gentleman as Governor, and little as we respected him as a man, he was ever considered as one of the most firm, upright and enlightened of our judges. We are happy therefore to find that Mr. Cobbett has been dismissed with his petition, and that his modest request to be permitted to display his eloquence at the bar of the house has also been refused, although we have thereby been deprived of the opportunity of being edified by the exquisite maxims of liberty and equality which would no doubt have been displayed.

General St. Clair's pension bill has passed the Senate of the United States.

The democrats of Massachusetts have nominated Benjamin W. Crowninshield, the secretary of the navy, as a candidate for the office of governor, and William King, as lieutenant governor, at the election which is to be held on the first Monday in April next. Gen. Brooks and William Phillips the present governor and lieutenant governor, are the candidates of the federal party.

Appointment by the Governor.

Jacob Spangler, Esq. member of Congress from York county, to be Surveyor General for this Commonwealth, in the room of Richard T. Leech resigned.

The Legislature of Maryland have appointed Luther Martin, Esq. Attorney General of that state.

RUSSIAN FLEET.

Capt. RAY, arrived at New York, from Trinidad Cuba, reports that a vessel had arrived at Movant Bay, Jamaica, which spoke off the Western Islands, the latter part of December, a Russian fleet of about fifty sail in all, with troops &c. bound to Buenos Ayres. A Spanish schooner, with 80,000 dollars specie on board, had recently been captured off Cape Cruz, by a Patriot privateer.

BANKRUPT LAW.

Washington City, Feb. 21.

A question has been at length taken in the House of Representatives on the principle of the bill to establish an uniform system of bankruptcy; and a majority of seven votes appeared against striking out the first section of the bill, which would have been equivalent to the rejection of it. This measure has stood the shock of the first encounter; it remains to be seen, whether its strength is to be frittered away in skirmishes respecting the details. It has unquestionably gained friends in the debate: and, if it was supported even by all the Representatives of the commercial districts, we should not doubt its passage.—Nat Intel.

A respectable London Evening Paper says, "If we may credit some statements, which have reached us through a very respectable channel, it is the intention of Spain, as soon as the ships lately purchased from Russia shall have been newly manned and properly equipped for the service, to declare the whole harbours and coasts of all the South American Colonies and quondam Colonies in a state of blockade; for which purpose these ships are to take in their cruise a sweep of the Atlantic, ranging along the whole South American coast, to cut off all commerce and supplies from that Continent, except what shall be furnished under the flag of FERDINAND.

HARRISBURGH Feb. 21, 1818.

The case of William Cobbett.

The senate on Wednesday last, after considerable discussion, decided against this man's claim—yeas 9 nays 20. Immediately after the decision, Mr Cobbett, who was present during the debate, walked up to the Speaker's chair and handed the following to the Speaker, which was read and laid on the table.

To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in General Assembly met.

The petition of William Cobbett, an Englishman, this 19th day of Feb. 1818,

Most respectfully sheweth.:

That your petitioner has heard with inexpressible surprise that the Senate of the commonwealth has rejected the petition lately presented to that Honorable body by your petitioner; that, seeing the flagrant enormity of the injustice of which he complained, he confidentially hopes that such rejection has arisen from some great misunderstanding as to the circumstances of the case; that he, therefore most respectfully, but most earnestly prays that the Hon. Senate will, without loss of time, be pleased to permit him to appear in person at the bar of their Honorable House, there to support the prayer of his said petition; that he feels the more confidence in making this respectful request, since it appears that his petition has been opposed by arguments drawn from the laws and usages of England, where similar requests, under similar circumstances, are never refused; and he finally begs leave to be permitted to state (which he does with the most profound respect) that a sense of duty towards his beloved country and his sovereign, his love of truth and justice, his attachment to real and his hatred of sham freedom, are the principal motives of this, his most respectful petition.

Wm. COBBETT.

On Thursday Wm. Cobbett sent a petition to the House of Representatives, praying that his case which had been defeated in the Senate might be investigated by the House. The petition we are informed was considered rather indecorous by the members. Among other things he says "England has had her Jeffries, and Pennsylvania her M'Kean's," and by invidious comparisons made out that M'Kean was the worse of the two, expressions not very palatable to many of the members; be that as it may, without waiting for a decision on his petition, he took stage immediately after, and left the town.

SAVANNAH, Feb. 11.

WAR WITH SPAIN!

If the last accounts from Europe may be depended upon, of the intention of Spain to declare the whole of the harbors and coast of all South America in a state of blockade without discrimination, war with the United States must be the inevitable consequence. We have heard a good deal about paper blockades, but the one contemplated of an immense continent with some half dozen of frigates, surpasses every thing of the kind that has yet happened—and most assuredly, will not be submitted to by the citizens of this country.—For the last twelve months the public has been amused by reading in the newspapers, various statements of the progress of the negociation with Spain for the cession of the Floridas, &c. Sometimes the business was in a fine train at Madrid, and would have been concluded to the satisfaction of all parties, were it not that the king was to marry a wife! and consequently his ministers were all engaged in attending to the royal preparations for the ceremony—it became of course expedient that the pending negociation should be transferred to Washington, with which his catholic majesty's ambassador was charged, with full powers to conclude a treaty, on all the points of difficulty between the two countries! every one was convinced that the Floridas were ceded, or would be ceded. However, after a fine display of diplomatic skill on the part of Chevalier De Onis, the whole business is blown up—and the public hears with astonishment that nothing has been done! and what is worse, not the slightest hope on the part of the government, that any thing satisfactory can be done.

Now we have no idea, notwithstanding the aid of a few vessels of war from Russia, that the colonies will soon be compelled to succumb—indeed we have no idea of their being conquered at all. Should England be the mediator, there is nothing to apprehend from the conditions she would propose to the colonies, and if there were, the latter would not yield to them, and it is well known if the former has the power, which is at least doubtful, she has not the will or inclination to enforce them.

The inference we draw from the premises is, that if the war continues between Spain and the colonies, the United States will necessarily be impelled to engage in it in defence of their lucrative commerce with many parts of South America.

Married—On Thursday evening, by the Revd. Francis Herron, Mr. GEORGE W. BRADLEY to Miss MARGARET GOUDY; all of this city.

Married,—In Greensburgh on Thursday last by the Rev. Mr. Speer, Mr. JOHN B. WILLIAMS, merchant of that town, to Miss KITTY SEMPLE, daughter of the late Steel Semple, Esq. of Pittsburgh.

CAJIPUT OIL.
An East India cure for the Rheumatism.

The essential Oil of the Cajiput Tree a medicine universally esteemed among the East Indians as a safe and certain cure for the Rheumatism, also, for bruises, sprains, fresh cuts, &c. &c.

THE above valuable medicine has but lately been introduced into Europe, in consequence of the tree from which it is produced, yielding its essential oil but in small quantities, and this chiefly monopolized by the government, owing to the great virtue it was found to possess in the cure of the rheumatisms, a disease which the people of that country are particularly subject to: the proprietor, however, receiving information of its virtues in a letter from his friend Mr. Jenkins, of the honorable East India company, has procured through him, at considerable expense, a regular supply, and wishing to extend the benefit as well to the poor as to the rich, has divided the original packages and put it up in bottles made for the purpose, with directions round each bottle, signed in the proprietors own hand writing.
